Campaign news from Alison Hernandez

Conservative Candidate for Police and Crime Commissioner for Devon, Cornwall and the Isles of Scilly

Voting time

This is the last full week of campaigning and postal votes are landing on the doorstep throughout Devon, Cornwall and the Isles of Scilly. The turnout at the last November PCC election averaged 15% so we're hoping for a better turnout as we're voting in May this time.

Much of the media publicity comes too late to really make a big difference for postal voters. I won't be on Spotlight until the middle of next week, BBC Radio Cornwall will broadcast the candidate debate on Monday at 12pm.

Plymouth University are holding their open candidate debating event on Monday evening (tomorrow) so please do come along if you can.

I've heard ITV Westcountry want to do a piece to camera too and Radio Devon will be doing a debate later this week.

Let's hope all this last minute publicity helps motivate people to go to the polling station and vote. If you want to hear why I would like your vote then you can listen to my one minute pitch.

All the best to you and if you'd like to help deliver leaflets in your street please do get in touch as there is a big push this week.

Justin Leigh was a great interviewer on BBC Spotlight asking questions about what I will do as the Police and Crime Commissioner, if elected. My interview should be aired this week from 6.30pm.

Fantastic to meet Dan who is a biker enthusiast and helps run the Devon Freewheelers. They are the fourth blue light service and are funded entirely through donations.

Had our first all candidate husting in Honiton this week organised by Honiton Senior Voice. BBC Radio Cornwall had theirs too and it's Plymouth Uni tomorrow.

Hug thank you to Phil and Christopher who came our campaigning with me in Honiton High Street before celebrating St George's Day at Kilminster Village Hall

Your PRIORITIES ARE my PRIORITIES

Putting Devon and Cornwall First!

1 GET THE BEST FUNDING DEAL
Alison will work with the Government to secure funding that meets the policing needs of the people of Devon and Cornwall. The way the Government allocates funding will change in this Parliament.

2 SAFETY ON OUR STREETS
Alison promises a visible uniformed presence will never be lost in our neighbourhoods. Alison will work with the other emergency services to achieve more effective responses on our streets.

3 SAFETY ONLINE
Alison will develop better online policing because of the threat to our security with online crime. Cyber crime and online bullying is one of the top concerns for businesses and young people.

4 SUPPORT THOSE AFFECTED BY CRIME
Alison wants to protect victims and the most vulnerable from harm and to ensure that more offenders are brought to justice. We need to put an end to those who suffer from repeat victimisation.

5 IMPROVE CRIME REPORTING ESPECIALLY 101
Alison hears time and again how difficult it is to access the Police to report crime. Waiting up to 45 minutes on the 101 number is not acceptable and will be a priority.

6 REVIEW THE CLOSURE OF POLICE STATIONS
Alison hears public concern that police station closures are not being managed well. People feel abandoned and are unclear how to contact the Police. A review must happen.

▲ Dr Sarah Wollaston MP says "Alison never wants to see another mentally ill young person placed in a cell again"

▲ Arnie Marie Merris MP says "Alison will protect the security of businesses by making cyber crime a priority"

▲ Neil Patish MP says "Alison's concern for wildlife and rural crime means she won't neglect apparent low-crime areas"
